

Music Notes for Today

As you walk through the Parish House on your way to Trueblood Hall, look to your right at the newly decorated music bulletin board. There is information on singing, playing the ukulele, and ringing bells. There are also two posters of composers who may not be familiar to you.

Vicente Lusitano (1520-1561) and Florence Price (1887-1953) are just two of many such composers who have been historically excluded from performance and study.

The colorful posters each includes a QR code linking to rich educational resources—composer bios, music recordings, and lesson plans. Keep watching the board as the artists presented will rotate during the year.

These ten groundbreaking artists have stories that deserve to be seen, heard, and celebrated. Because uplifting every voice is how equity sings.

Music Notes for Today

As you walk through the Parish House on your way to Trueblood Hall, look to your right at the newly decorated music bulletin board. There is information on singing, playing the ukulele, and ringing bells. There are also two posters of composers who may not be familiar to you.

Vicente Lusitano (1520-1561) and Florence Price (1887-1953) are just two of many such composers who have been historically excluded from performance and study.

The colorful posters each includes a QR code linking to rich educational resources—composer bios, music recordings, and lesson plans. Keep watching the board as the artists presented will rotate during the year.

These ten groundbreaking artists have stories that deserve to be seen, heard, and celebrated. Because uplifting every voice is how equity sings.